WEDNESDAY MORNING, FEB. 1, 1865.

The President.

President Lincoln is noted far more for his terse and vigorous sense than for studied effort of polished style of expression. It has been well said of him that he has never once failed, when putting pen to paper, to say something forcibly and say it well. Studying no artifice of expression, seeking but to make himself unmistakably and emphatically understood, and to conveying his meaning in a manner that shall neither leave himself, nor his audience at fault; simply and earnestly truthful, he places himself always upon the record in words that convey strong impressions, and that will be handed down, not as being eloquent, but as characteristic of the man in whose hands were the destinies of our Nation, during those times when its very existence was in peril.

The late Message of the President to Congress closes with the simple assertion,—"the war will cease on the part of the Government when it shall have ceased on the part of those who began it," an expression that in homely phrase says all there is to say. The Government has commenced no war, and can never cease to prosecute the present one until rebellion ceases to attempt its destruction, and rebels lay down their arms. Whatever may be the private views of the Executive as to the course to be pursued in the future towards those engaged in the present rebellion; however lenient a course he may determine to carry out; sincere as he may be in desiring to temper justice with mercy, he can never yield two points upon which he has given his conclusions; he has no direct overtures to propose to rebels as such, and he can never reconsign to slavery those that through his proclamation have become free.

The Union party as such has nothing to do with the abstract question of slavery, nothing to determine as to the status of the negro in the future. The only questions involved are these: shall the war be prosecuted until the rebellion ceases, and shall slavery cease in the rebel States as declared in the proclamation of President Lincoln? In other words, and yet more briefly the question is, shall the policy of the President be sustained, and the verdict of the people has been more briefly uttered still in the late election, when the vote for Lincoln and Johnson answered an emphatic "yes."

Those who attempt to cover the name of the President with infamy—who couple it with epithets that are vile, either blindly pursue a course dictated by partisan hate or ignorance. The nations that look on see something to respect and admire; the world at large does not second these partisan charges, and those who oppose him most bitterly, when placed in contact with him, freely confess that, while his policy is against their interest, the man himself affords them no cause for complaint, and that his heart overflows with kindness for all. We believe that Mr. Lincoln is single-minded, truthful, earnest; that his one thought is for his country, and that it would be impossible to find another who would more entirely ignore himself; whose policy could be more unselfish, or could, more consistently than does he, steer clear of the ultra and extreme factions that press him upon every side, while he calmly, patiently and consistently studies the national cause and ignores individual interest.

Even upon the all-exciting question of slavery we consider that he is most consistent. As a necessary measure to effect the success of the war, he has declared that it shall no longer exist in the rebel States, by that simple act binding to the Federal fortunes the whole slave population of those States, and adding to our armies tens of thousands of able-bodied negro troops. The word emancipation has weakened the foe, and proportionately strengthened ourselves; while by no word or act has the President endeavored to disturb the institution in those States that have remained loyal. We do not claim that the President is perfection—no man can be; but we do feel that it is a cause for thankfulness that the helm of State is held by one who calmly and dispassionately studies our course, and pursues a steadfast policy, based upon his own calm convictions.

Hon. Frank P. Dugan, of Walla Walla, informs us that Acting-Governor Evans, of Washington Territory has refused to approve the following acts:

Specific Contract Law;

Act abolishing the Board of University Commissioners;

Act prohibiting the importation of "American citizens of African descent;"

Act authorizing the County Auditor of Walla Walla county to convey certain school lands;

An act conferring exclusive jurisdiction on Probate Judges to try suits for claims against the estates of deceased persons;

Act to authorize the levy of a road tax, not exceeding eight dollars per head on the citizens of Thurston county;

Act to authorize E. S. Fowler and C. Jones to open Skagit river for small craft.

MANUFACTURE OF POWDER IN SAN FRANCISCO.—We see by the Bulletin that extensive mills are now in operation in California manufacturing large quantities of powder of different qualities. The California Powder Works, at Santa Cruz, which cost $200,000, commenced last spring to manufacture, and can turn out 230 kegs containing 25 lbs. each per day. They comprise 24 buildings, which occupy 100 acres of ground. The kegs are made of redwood; the casks and bottles used are all made in California. The Eureka Powder Mills have their works on the San Bruno road, probably near San Francisco, and can, when in full operation, make 100 kegs daily. Their powder is made upon a new plan, without saltpetre, and is said to work well, though an ordinary keg holds but 20 pounds of powder, it being a lighter article than the ordinary kind. Another company in Grass Valley is manufacturing the same kind of powder which is said to be used with great success.

HORRIBLE MURDER.—James Irwin, who kept a hog ranch on the San Bruno road, three miles from San Francisco, was lately murdered by Barney Otwell, who shot him dead because he owed him $42 which he could not pay on demand. Otwell is an Irishman, says he shot him on purpose, and is glad he did it, expects to be hung for it, but does not care for that. Certainly one of the most cold-blooded murders upon record.

Mrs. Choate, widow of Rufus Choate, and daughter of the late Miles Olcott, of Hanover, N. H., died recently at Dorchester, Mass., after a brief illness.

By Overland Telegraph.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JANUARY 30.

Indians on the Plains.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—A dispatch from Colonel Livingston, dated at Fort Kearney, states that he has been up the Republican river searching for Indians, and from thence to where Col. Chivington had his fight. Their main trail is westward along the Republican. It is believed they have crossed the Platte 25 miles west of Julesburg and are watching Livingston's movements. Col. Livingston says the Overland Stages should run, and that he will protect them.

From Richmond Papers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—The Richmond Examiner, of Jan. 25th, has the following: The President has signed the bill creating the office of General-in-Chief. No appointment has been made as yet.

The Sentinel, of Jan. 25th, says: Cannon and musketry firing was heard in the direction of Battery Harrison yesterday, and it is reported that it had been recaptured from the Yankees, though it is not believed.

Blair has not been authorized to offer any terms of settlement that could be accepted by the Confederates. What consultations have taken place between him and Davis, it is presumed are only known to them. Really, the shortest way to peace is vigorous war. The enemy will never make terms with us till they are convinced that we will fight till we have achieved our independence.

Canadian Matters.

The Herald's special dispatch says: It is reported that in consequence of the readiness manifested by the Canadian authorities to refund the money stolen by the St. Albans raiders, and their intention to take efficient steps to prevent raids in the future, the Secretary of State will soon rescind the passport order.

The Burleigh case was decided this morning. The Judges were unanimously of the opinion that the prisoner should be given up.

Richmond and New York on Gwin.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Nearly all the Richmond papers have editorials on the news from the northern papers of Mexican movements. Most of them consider them a decided step against the United States Government.

The World thinks movements will be set on foot to add California to the new Empire.

The Tribune sees nothing very dangerous in Gwin's movements, and thinks the occupation of Mexico will only be for a few years.

The Herald thinks Gwin's movement is not in the interest of Jefferson Davis, and says it appears to be a counter move on the part of Richmond against Maximilian, Napoleon and Dr. Gwin, and in favor of reunion of the North and South on the basis of the Monroe doctrine.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—In the Senate, Pomeroy, of Kansas, offered a joint resolution calling upon the President to issue a proclamation declaring the State of Arkansas no longer in insurrection against the United States and authorizing restoration of commercial intercourse between that and other States, and also declaring that the Senators and Representatives recently elected in that State, shall be recognized and admitted to seats in Congress. Laid on the table and ordered printed.

Conness, of California, presented a resolution instructing the Secretary of the Treasury to enforce the regulations for the carrying of passengers between New York and San Francisco on the Atlantic side.

Miscellaneous.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 27.—Little Rock, Ark., advices to the 19th says Shelby was blockading the Arkansas river, at Dardanelle, 15 miles above Little Rock, to prevent vessels from passing to Fort Smith with supplies. A detachment of troops has been sent which attacked Shelby on Saturday, the particulars of which is not known, further than that we lost 25 killed and that Shelby evacuated the place after a severe fight.

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The Tribune's Fort Fisher correspondent says: The rebels have constructed breastworks nearly from the ocean to the river, above our lines, and are evidently preparing, as best they can, to contest our advance.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—The blockade runner Talisman, from Wilmington to Bermuda foundered at sea on the 20th of December. The crew was saved by an American steamer and taken to Bermuda.

FORTRESS MONROE, Jan. 25.—Heavy guns are being mounted at City Point and other places to oppose the fleet should it again attempt that point. The ironclad Atlanta was ordered up James river last night.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—The Richmond Sentinel states that Breckinridge has been appointed Secretary of War.

Col. North, State Agent of New York, tried for fraud on the soldiers has been unconditionally released.

More Peace Gossip.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Herald's special says: The mission of Blair to Richmond was not, as has been generally supposed, an entire failure, but that it resulted in fully disclosing the fact that many of the rebel chiefs are desirous of peace, and are willing to submit to much more considerate terms than their newspapers would lead us to suppose. They are so jealous and watchful of each other that no one dares to make an advance for fear of being made the victim of some desperate and relentless faction.

Another correspondent says: We need not be surprised to soon hear of terms for peace in the proclamations of the Governors of Georgia and North Carolina.

The Tribune's special says: The only developments as to Blair's mission are reported by members of the House, who dined with the returned envoy. Blair said that Jeff. Davis entreated him to effect the passage of the Constitutional amendment to abolish slavery. He confessed that the war had uprooted and destroyed slavery which had induced disunion. The hope of being able to save slavery and re-enthrone it, was the only obstacle to peace and the restoration of the Union. This was told on the floor of the House.

New York Trade Report.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29.—There appears to be a general indisposition to embark in any commercial transactions for the moment. Business men are utterly at a loss in deciding which way to move. Storage is sluggish; gold drops to 200, and the world of trade is kept in a state of ferment. The rumors relative to peace negotiations have completely unsettled the market for California produce. Wool, inactive and unsettled; the holders of foreign, purchased by currency or exchange, are anxious to realize. Tallow is drooping; there is a moderate demand for hides at fair prices; receipts are light. Wheat is in better demand at higher prices. Pork is more active and firmer. Foreign exchange dull at 110, for bankers' bills, and 109 at 20 days; stocks are depressed; sales of 5,300 California, seven at 155; 500 Mariposa a 90; +200 Quicksilver Mining Company at 96 0 Government securities are lower in sympathy with gold; the money market is working easily; calls for loans at seven per cent. California freights continue dull; engagements limited. Cleared to-day, ship Lookout, Sutton & Co., Liverpool; on Dec. 31st, ship Aryan will clear for San Francisco.

The Tribune Discovers a Mare's Nest.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Tribune has a leading article on a recognition intrigue, which, it says, it has discovered; a clue to a European complot whereof the slaveholding rebels are comforting themselves with the hope of powerful and speedy aid to their sinking cause. Its outline is, that at an early stage of the rebellion Jefferson Davis sent the Roman Catholic Bishop Lynch, of South Carolina, to Europe to search for sympathizers and allies, and to make Rome the focus of operations. It was not difficult for him to convince the master spirits of European reaction and Abolitionism that the slaveholders' rebellion was identical in spirit with their cause and enlist their sympathy, but Bishop Lynch went further. He assured the magnates of the Catholic Church that its expansion and predomination throughout this Hemisphere would be assured by a triumph for the rebels. In deference to these representations, a secret league of the Roman Catholic powers, of France, Spain and Austria, under the guidance of the Pope has been formed, pledged to recognize the Confederacy after the 4th of March next, on the ground that it did not take part in the Federal election.

The Tribune also learns the rebels anticipate a fresh assault on Richmond. In case they cannot hold it, they will burn it to the ground, to show Christendom they had rather be exterminated than subjugated.

A Queer Speculation.

The Herald's St. Albans correspondent gives the outlines of a reported rebel project in West Mississippi of an extraordinary character. It is to the effect, that General Kirby Smith, commanding the rebel trans-Mississippi Department, including all the rebel territory and troops west of the Mississippi river, has been for some time negotiating for the transfer of all his forces to the Emperor Maximilian of Mexico.

The Rebel Forces.

The Herald [illegible] a rebel army roster, which it says it obtained from the most authentic source. The figures [illegible] the organization show the full strength of the rebels to be only one hundred and sixty-[illegible] thousand, one hundred and fifty men of all arms. This is their full strength. Their forces are scattered from the James to the Red river, and [illegible] the Atlantic to the Indian territories. It is known very conclusively that the only army upon which the rebels can depend is the army of Northern Virginia. This is the only organization which the enemy has deserving of the name, and the only army which we now have to overcome.

California News.

SAN FRANCISCO, January 31.—A Jew named Schmidt, an insane man, arrived from Mexico recently and stopped at the Wm. Tell House, on Bush street. This morning, while standing in the bar-room, he suddenly drew a Derringer pistol and shot a man named Francis Lonners in the back, the ball entering his lung below the heart, inflicting a wound which will probably prove mortal. Schmidt immediately went to his room and shot himself, following up the action by driving a knife into his heart, killing himself instantly. He had been considered harmless heretofore. Lonners was an entire stranger to him.

Levi Shilling sues T. S. Mitchell to recover $2,909 50 for hides sold, alleging that Mitchell was insolvent at the time of purchase and fraudulently concealed said insolvency from plaintiff.

The rumors of a strike by the workmen at the Almaden mines proves to be unfounded. The only trouble was caused by the workmen refusing to sign leases for premises occupied on the company's grounds. The dispute was compromised by the workmen agreeing to pay rent and acknowledge the company's ownership to the land.

Regulations for Lent.

The following are the regulations for Lent for the present year, commencing the 1st of March:

1. All the week days of Lent, from Ash Wednesday till Easter Sunday, are fast days of precept, on one meal, with the allowance of a moderate collation in the evening, and a cup of tea or coffee with a small piece of dry bread in the morning.

2. The precept of fasting implies that also of abstinence from the use of flesh meat. But, by dispensation, the use of flesh meat is allowed, in this Diocese, but only at the principal meal, on all Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays of Lent, Holy Thursday excepted; and at every meal on all the Sundays. By the foregoing dispensation, there remain only three days of abstinence every week from Ash Wednesday till the Holy Week, of which the last four days are of strict abstinence.

3. The regular meal is not, without reasonable cause, to be taken till about noon.

4. The use of flesh meat and fish at the same meal is prohibited.

5. There is no prohibition to use eggs, butter, milk and cheese. Lard may be used in preparing fish and vegetables, &c., in all Lent. This dispensation extends also to the days of abstinence throughout the year.

6. The Church excuses from the obligation of fasting, but not of abstinence from flesh meat, except in special case of sickness or the like, the following classes of persons, viz: the infirm, those whose duties are of an exhausting or laborious character, those under twenty-one years of age, or only attaining their growth, women in pregnancy or nursing infants, and those who are enfeebled by old age.

7. It is eminently in the spirit of the Church that such persons should supply in part by good works for what is remitted in fasting and abstinence.

8. Fervent prayer and almsdeeds according to each one's ability, ought to be inseparable companions of our fasting. These three sisters should go hand in hand, to help us in our warfare against our three mortal enemies, the flesh, the world, and the devil. According to the advice of the Angel to Tobias, xii, 8: "Prayer is good with fasting and alms, more than to lay up treasure of gold." The practice of these three eminent good works we must oppose to that triple concupiscence which reigns in the world, (1 St. John, ii, 16) and by means of which Satan maintains his unhappy reign. By fasting we overcome the lust of the flesh; by almsdeeds we subdue the lust of the eyes by which we are apt to covet the mammon of the world and its empty toys, and by fervent and humble prayer we conquer the pride of life and put to flight the devil, the king of pride. Let us call on in this holy season these powerful auxiliaries to help us in our warfare. There is a very praiseworthy practice kept in many Christian homes in saying the Rosary and evening prayers in families every day in Lent. This holy exercise we would recommend to be practiced by all during Lent.

9. But all ought to remember that the very soul of the fasting is the inward spirit, which is a penitential spirit. This penitential spirit implies a deep sense of the guilt of our sins, a horror and detestation of all our past disloyalties and treasons, and a hearty sorrow for them; a sincere desire to return to God and renounce our sinful ways for the future; and particularly, a readiness of mind to make the best satisfaction we are able to the Divine justice by penancing ourselves for our sins. Fasting in this spirit cannot fail of moving God to mercy.

10. The usual evening exercises of Lent in the churches, consisting of the Rosary of the Blessed Virgin Mary, an instruction, and the Benediction of the Holy Sacrament, are recommended on every Wednesday and Friday during the Lent.

Given at Portland, Oregon, the 30th of January, 1865.

† F. N. BLANCHET,
Archbishop of O. C.

P. S.—Poor families and those short of means are required to keep duly two days of abstinence every week, except the first, second and last weeks. By an indult of His Holiness Pope Pius IX, granted in 1860, the seamen and soldiers in the U. S. service are permitted to observe only six days of abstinence during the whole year, viz: Ash Wednesday, the three last days of Lent, the Vigil of the Assumption of the B. V. M., and the Vigil of Christmas.

DULL TIMES.—We see by the San Francisco and Victoria exchanges that dull times prevail in California and in Vancouver Island to an alarming extent, giving much complaint and we presume as the papers have nothing else to talk about [illegible] are industrious in urging their favorite claims [illegible] the travel [illegible] for the trade [illegible] the mining region [illegible] Portland [illegible] in favor of [illegible] and [illegible] fully its own or [illegible] the [illegible] itself, which was [illegible] of Idaho [illegible] the necessity of establishing [illegible] whiskey [illegible] and the [illegible] behalf of the Portland [illegible] We entertain no fears [illegible] The [illegible] greatest [illegible] with all the [illegible]

A [illegible] friend of ours who [illegible] a very extensive [illegible] this city was [illegible] Monday evening [illegible] full [illegible] with [illegible] and laughter, music and song [illegible] Such events are quite [illegible] when they fall [illegible] another of our bachelor friends [illegible] is to-day living in the light and [illegible] domestic [illegible] We can only wish that [illegible] fate may befall [illegible] which surprised [illegible] Monday evening.

WATER—A TRICK.—[illegible] overheard a conversation yesterday which he [illegible] his notes. It must be remembered that Monday was a rainy day, yesterday quite the opposite, and the altogether [illegible] wash day [illegible] well regulated household. Early in the morning the subject turned upon water [illegible] that it was too bad, sufficient could [illegible] for the laundry purposes of the day, as the hydrant still failed to supply the demand, which caused her domestic much vexation. "Not water enough?" says the husband, "Why [illegible] sufficient yesterday, and last night to have filled a hundred barrels with what came from the roof. Why didn't you catch water?" "Oh," was the reply, "any one could catch water with barrels, but to catch water without barrels—that's a trick." Later in the day workmen from the plumber's were prospecting for water in the vicinity.

QUEER STUFF.—James Stearnes was arrested on a charge of passing counterfeit coin and brought before Recorder McCoy yesterday. The case was continued until evening for a hearing, when the Prosecuting Attorney will draw the complaint, it appearing that the "stuff" had not been passed. We have been informed of [illegible] in San Francisco quite recently, and our Police are on the look out for it here. The piece found upon Stearns is a fair imitation of a Half Eagle, and is well calculated to mislead the unwary. Still it is not a facsimile of American coin, being somewhat lighter than the [illegible] piece, and bears another inscription than "United States of America," and letters instead of figures on the reverse side. It is not clear to our mind but that it was designed for deception, whether Stearnes intended to "realize" from it or not.

NAVIGATION.—The steamer Vancouver, Captain Turnbull, reached her destination yesterday, and returned to her wharf in this city safely. The steamer Cascade, Capt. VanBergen, left in the morning for Astoria, but finding so much floating ice in the Columbia [illegible] deemed it unsafe to proceed farther, and returned to the city. The [illegible] Captain [illegible] and the [illegible] Captain [illegible] arrived from [illegible] and Rainier at [illegible] o'clock last evening [illegible] an immense amount of ice floating between the mouth of the Cowlitz river and St Helens.

POLICE COURT.—The following is the result of Recorder McCoy's levee yesterday: [illegible] Stearnes committed to jail for six days, in default of $20 and costs, for violent and disorderly conduct; he was arraigned on a charge of the State for an attempt to pass counterfeit coin, which complaint was withdrawn. Michael Dender paid $11 and costs, penalty for a drunk and [illegible] Isaac Henchman's case, for bad treatment of his wife, was continued.

FINE VEHICLES.—Mr Reed, Superintendent of Wells Fargo & Co's Express Company, paid a flying visit to San Francisco recently, returning by the last steamer. While in California Mr. Reed purchased two vehicles for the use of the Company in this city. One a handsome [illegible] wheel truck, for the transportation of bullion, and Express freight to and from the steamers; the other a finished express wagon, for use on the streets in delivering packages, etc.

THE PACIFIC INSURANCE COMPANY.—We are publishing in our advertising columns the report of the above Insurance Company of San Francisco. Messrs Ladd & Tilton are agents for Oregon and Washington Territory, and we recommend a perusal of the report by those intending to insure. This is the first Insurance Company to comply with the law enacted by our Legislature, and have deposited $50,000 as required.

NEW BOOKS.—Another invoice of books were received from New York by the last steamer and opened at the Portland Library [illegible] yesterday. They come in good shape, and will be followed by other invoices, making the library [illegible] the finest resort in Oregon for men of literary taste. We are not prepared [illegible] the merit of the books received [illegible] they embrace an extent and variety not easily [illegible]

THE [illegible] The celebrated trotter, Mart [illegible] Lewis, after beating all Oregon with his speed on turf, has found his way to California, where he is achieving quite a notoriety. The telegraph informs us that he ran a match yesterday for $500 a side with [illegible] distance [illegible] yards, winning in [illegible] seconds, and beating his competitor badly.

ACCIDENT.—A man named C[illegible]r fell from a bridge in East Portland on Monday night seriously injuring his back and bruising his face. He was picked up and taken to a neighboring house where medical attendance was procured, and yesterday he was quite [illegible]

MINE HOST and his lady of the Arrigoni yesterday celebrated their sixteenth wedding anniversary, and their friends [illegible] their excellent way of reminding them [illegible] that it deserved to be celebrated.

SAILING OF THE PACIFIC.—We learn by our dispatches that the steamer [illegible] sailed Monday forenoon, January [illegible] from San Francisco for this place.

RETIRED.—We [illegible] that Mr Ward has retired from the editorial [illegible] of our [illegible] contemporary the [illegible] He [illegible] filled the chair with ability [illegible] term has [illegible]

ROAD MEETING.—A meeting of the directors of the Portland and Milwaukie Macadamized Road company is called for Saturday next at the U.S. District Court [illegible] in this city.

THEATRICAL.—Willamette Theatre will be open this evening. A good bill is offered for the patronage of the public.

Notice.—The [illegible] Society will [illegible] at their Hall [illegible] February 1st, 1865, at [illegible] A [illegible] attendance is requested. [illegible] Secretary.

WHAT KILLED HIM?
Dr Hall, in his "Journal of Health," speaking of the death of Washington Irving, asks the above question, and [illegible] remained with us for some years [illegible] advice kindly intended, no doubt [illegible] given in thoughtlessness and reckless ignorance.

Edwin D. Morgan, Merchant of New-York

Mr. Morgan [illegible] successful merchant [illegible] statesman. His father [illegible] highly respectable citizen [illegible] lived in [illegible], and there it was that his [illegible] Edwin was born in February, 1811. [illegible] education before he was [illegible] without going to college, and at [illegible] commenced his mercantile experience [illegible] in Hartford, Conn. [illegible] the first [illegible] hundred [illegible] A trip to the great [illegible] with the facility [illegible] two or three years [illegible] the confidence [illegible] he was permitted to go to New [illegible] business with [illegible] to make sundry purchases of tea, sugar, etc., and also corn, which was [illegible] an article of [illegible] The visit was made, and [illegible] returned in due time, by the old stage [illegible]. After being greeted and welcomed [illegible] inquired as to the corn. Th[illegible] was very satisfactory, but his [illegible] the article would be [illegible] at so low a rate. Edwin [illegible] handful first from one pocket [illegible] another as samples and the old gentleman expressed his approbation. It had been usual for the dealers to purchase [illegible] of three hundred bushels at a time, and he then inquired of Edwin as to the quantity. But was nonplussed by the answer that he had purchased two cargoes, and that the vessels were probably in the river.

"Why, Edwin," said the old gentleman, "what are we to do with two cargoes of corn? Where can we put it? Where can we dispose of it?"

"Oh!" replied Edwin, "I have disposed of all th[illegible] at an advance. I have shown the samples to Messrs. A. & B., who wish three hundred bushels; C. & Co., three hundred, etc., etc. I could have disposed of three cargoes if I had had them. I stopped into the stores as I came along, and made sales."

This was a new phase, and out of the old routine, but the gains and results were not to be questioned. The following morning, Edwin was at the store, as always, in season, and had taken the broom to sweep out the counting room, when his employer entered.

"I think," said he, "you had better put aside the broom; we will find some one else to do the sweeping. A man who can go to New York, and on his own responsibility purchase two cargoes and make sales of them without counseling with his principal, can be otherwise more advantageously employed. It is best that he should become a partner in the firm for which he is doing so much." And he did, though not yet of age.

When he had just attained his majority, Mr. Morgan was elected to the City Council of Hartford, and at twenty-two he married Miss Waterman, of that city, by whom he has but one surviving child—a son. He removed to the city of New York in 1836, established himself as a wholesale grocer, upon a small capital of four thousand dollars, but which his business qualities afterward greatly enlarged, and his fortune increased until now the house of Edwin D. Morgan & Co. is one of the richest in the metropolis. In 1849, Mr. Morgan was elected a member of the then Board of Assistant Aldermen; in 1852, a member of the State Senate; in 1858, to the high position of Governor of the State, and he now fills the honored post of United States Senator. Such a career of combined mercantile success and political honors is rare indeed.

A Moorish Martyr.—Nearly three hundred years ago a Moorish Christian named Geronymo was a captive in Algiers. His captors were engaged in building a mud fort for the defence of the city, after many efforts to induce him to abjure his faith, they threatened to bury him in the embankment if he refused to comply. Chained and guarded, he was brought to the wall of the unfinished fort, when the pashaw accosted him thus:

"Hallo, dog, wherefore wilt thou not be a Mussulman?"

"I will not be one in anything," replied the martyr of God. "I am a Christian, and I shall remain a Christian."

"Ah, well," replied the pasha, "if thou wilt not become a Mussulman—look there!" and he showed him the mould for the block of mud. "Look there, I will bury thee alive there!"

"Do what thou wilt," returned the holy man, with admirable courage, "I am prepared for all things. The aspect of death will not make me abandon the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Enraged at his firmness, the pasha fulfilled his threat; Geronymo was buried alive beneath the earth of which the bank was built. The Christian slaves who witnessed the atrocity were unable to prevent it, or to remove the body after death. But they made a record of the fact, which was handed down to the time when the French were masters of Algiers, and the old time earthworks were demolished. On the 27th of December, 1863, the soldiers employed in the demolition of the ramparts facing the [illegible], perceived, upon a removal of the rubbish produced by the explosion of the mine, extending lengthwise within a block of mud, an excavation enclosing a human skeleton, which was visible from the capital region to the articulation of the tibia with the femur. In short, excepting the upper portion of the head to the lower portion of the legs, the whole body was quite visible. Believing the remains to be those of the martyr Geronymo, the officer in charge removed the bones, and took a cast in the plaster of the cavity in which they were found. The result was a perfect model of a Moorish figure and face, with the eyes closed and a strange pathos in the expression, leaving no doubt that it was a reproduction of the features of the martyred Moor. Photographs from this cast are now to be seen in Paris, and a woodcut from one of them, bearing the same mark of mournful resignation, is found in a late number of Once a Week.

The existence of the great [illegible] between the [illegible] Mountains is a fact, the value of which cannot be overestimated. [illegible] for the navigation of the Upper Missouri river, it is a controlling element [illegible] the railroad across the [illegible]
